Bhishma Jaladhara

The water that rose for Bhishma.

As Bhishma lay dying, he asked for water. Arjuna struck the earth, and the Ganga rose to meet him. This fountain recreates that moment with an arrow at the center, marble flowers rising around it, water flowing through bronze arrows below. "Nothing here is ornamental. Every detail is built to be felt." One of eight stories built in stone and water. The rest, we'd rather show you in person.
